“Bones for Life® provides a sound theoretical framework and a progressive set of activities that enhances patients’ functional performance. On a personal level, BFL has allowed me to undo my pain patterns and improve my posture.”

—Shereen D. Farber, PhD, OTR, FAOTA

Cynthia Allen has been working in holistic practices, health care management and organizational consulting for over 25 years. Some years ago, she embarked on a career change and became a Certified Feldenkrais® practitioner and Certified Bones for Life® Teacher/Trainer. Sr. Trainer in Movement Intelligence and co-creator of Integral Human Gait Theory. She offers trainings throughout the U.S.

“Cynthia is a consummate professional with a sense of humor. She has a thought-provoking answer to every question, and brings a real diversity of elements to the learning process. Her students are free to contribute ideas, questions and perspectives, creating a lively and rich environment where laughter, play, discussion and movement co-exist.” — Meriah Kruse, BA, LMT, GCFP

Brian Shircliff pioneered teaching a Meditation elective and bringing meditation to the two sports he coached while a teacher at St. Xavier High School (1997 -

2013). With many friends, Brian founded VITALITY Cincinnati in 2010 to share holistic self-care education. In addition to being a Bones for Life Teacher, he has been a tai chi practitioner/teacher since 1997, yoga teacher (registered through Yoga Alliance as an E-RYT200 & RYT500), Healing Touch Certified Practitioner, and recently a student of the Feldenkrais Method (certification

“I honestly can’t believe that those things Brian has us do from Movement Intelligence bring major relief to my neck...though they do every time!” —Student

Movement Intelligence

Created by Ruthy Alon, a somatic pioneer and student of Dr. Moshe Feldenkrais, Alon’s work is offered under the umbrella of Movement Intelligence. In addition to Walk for Life, it includes Bones for Life, Chairs, Solutions for Optimal Mobility and Mindful Eating.

What is Bones for Life®?

The complete Bones for Life® program consists of 90 fast-acting exercise processes. The safe, weight-bearing movements challenge bones to be strong and sturdy while improving balance and coordination. The work masterfully blends function, learning, and skeletal alignment. Inspired by the African water carriers, Alon has deciphered locomotion to bring us back to a vital healthy skeleton.

What is Walk for Life?

We all know that walking is nature’s best medicine. Nothing new here. What we may not know is that to get quality medicine, we need quality walking. The Walk for Life program uses trekking poles and somatic exercises to train upright posture, upper back health and core stability and pleasure in walking.

Learning objectives for Teacher’s include:

- Perform movement processes that alter and enhance the organization of the rib cage and thoracic spine.
- Discover how creeping and crawling improve core strength for standing.
- Articulate the dynamic relationship between the 3 spinal curves and the extremities.
- Gain a felt sense of optimal relationships not only between body parts, but also between self and environment.
- Teach others to get up and down from the floor, chair and bed efficiently and with ease.
- Gain expertise in providing appropriate and progressive levels of challenge in a functional situation without overwhelming the system.
- Effectively coach the release of unnecessary neuromuscular holding patterns.
- Use vibratory “press and release” motions against everyday surfaces in multiple planes to enhance proprioception and joint alignment.
- Understand tenets of the Bones for Life® program and discuss how they directly relate to the services of those individuals working in helping fields, specifically in the areas of education, professional competence, and self-care.

Full Learning Objectives available upon request. Each workshop builds on the prior one, to cultivate a deeper and more thorough knowledge of the above learning objectives and more.

CEU’s offered for Ohio Physical and Occupational Therapists; Massage Therapists through NCBMTB.

Quick FAQs

I know I want to learn the basic program, but I am not sure I will want to go on and teach it. Can I still participate?

Absolutely. The pricing structure is different and we will be happy to go over that with you. There is a financial savings of over $200 when you commit to the entire program.

What if I've already started my training? Can I complete it in Cincinnati in 2017/2018?

It may be possible to take it one workshop at a time. After 2017, the group will be specialized to meet committed participants' needs, so we are currently unable to say whether the 2018 dates would be right for you. Keep in touch and we can discover that together.

What extras are included in the fee?

A 7-meter wrap; PDF transcript of a prior Ruthy Alon training; all certification fees required by the national organization; trainer manuals (value over $300).

Why don't you use the terms Segment I, Segment II and Segment III?

If you are familiar with Bones for Life, you know the curriculum is divided into "Segments." This training will not follow these Segments verbatim, but instead allow more time to understand processes before moving on.

Are there additional costs I should be aware of?

As part of your mentoring hours, it may be suggested that you read a book, experience another modality, or take an additional local class. You may wish to purchase optional products such as audio CDs of Ruthy Alon teaching the movement processes. Other costs will include your meals, any travel and accommodations. When you become a teacher you should join the Foundation for Movement Intelligence.

Is there a certification test?

As your trainer, Cynthia Allen will be mentoring you through the entire process. She is responsible for assessing whether you have not only met the hours and training requirements but have the competency to teach. It is extremely rare that someone would not be recommended for certification. We know that budding teachers are "young" and will continue to grow and develop over the course of their teaching lifetime.
